Farmers' Institute Against Releasing C.N.R. From Its Obligations

Release of the Canadian National Railways from its obligations in regard to the upkeep of cattle guards and other right-of-way fencing on Vancouver Island was firmly opposed by District A Farmers' Institutes meeting yesterday at the Legislative Buildings. Cuts in agriculture were also opposed.

The group, representative of all farmers' institutes on the island, passed a resolution urging that recommendations be made to the Dominion Railway Board on the subject. Eighteen resolutions were considered at an all-day meeting, with E. W. Neel in the chair.

WOULD CURB WARDENS

Other resolutions sought removal of the right of game wardens to search premises without a warrant; amendment of the Game Act to license permanent farm hands as well as farmers to shoot deer found destroying crops; and amelioration of notification provisions where deer are so shot, to extend the time in which such notice could be given either verbally or in writing, to seven days.

On the financial side, the institutes asked the Government to halt reductions in grants in aid of Farmers and Women's Institutes; renewed assurance of powder rebates; and enactment in British Columbia of existing Prairie provisions as to the exemption of farmers' property from seizure for ordinary debt purposes, where small amounts only are concerned.

ANIMAL PESTS BAD

Great increase on the island of the nuisance created by muskrats was noted, and freedom to the farmer to get rid of these animals will be sought.

Depredations by cougars in the Cowichan and Metochin areas were specially referred to, and the Government will be requested to restore cougar bounties in established sheep raising areas. It was admitted that the $27,000 yearly formerly paid on bounties on muskrats was high in these times, but a better measure of protection for sheep flocks was desired.

Losses of from six to nine sheep in some island flocks were recorded by several of those present.

REDUCTION IN TELEPHONE RATES

Reduction in telephone rates in rural areas was proposed in another resolution, which carried. Arising from representations will be made to the company concerned.

PRUNING IS DECIED

On the question of Government grants, the institutes were outspoken. "Resolved, that the institute go on record as being strongly opposed to any further tampering or reduction with the Department of Agriculture, stumping powder rebates, Farmers and Women's Institutes, and grants to small farmers," the resolution as worded by the Sallair Institute, carried.

The Dominion Forestry Branch will be asked to distribute cone sacks in connection with the sacking of spruce seeds at Graham Island and elsewhere for use in reforestation work.

WANT MILK TESTER

Appointment of a milk tester on Vancouver Island, to work under the British Columbia Dairy Branch, which was endorsed.

Henry Rive, dairy commissioner for the Province, gave an interesting talk on dairy matters, dealing with the periodic inspection of dairies by inspectors of the department. W. H. Robertson and other Provincial officials also outlined issues affecting their departments.

E. W. Neel was re-elected district chairman and member of the British Columbia Advisory Board of Farmers' Institutes. C. H. Heigesen was chosen alternate member on the advisory panel. W. J. Bonavia was re-elected secretary. Many Island areas were represented at the meeting, the annual convention of the island group.

FREE STATE GOV'T SURVIVES VOTE BY MAJORITY OF FIVE

It would probably cost the Free State far more than the amount involved in the land annuities dispute. Under existing conditions, he continued, discontent and unrest were developing in the country with alarming rapidity and political passions were being known to a degree hitherto unknown "even in Ireland."

He said the principles of the Christian churches were in danger of being forgotten.

The former president was followed by Frank MacDermot, leading Independent, who described the President's program as one of "bluster, jingoism and breaking agreements."

At this point William Norton announced the Labor party, which he leads, would support the Government.

TO MAKE STATEMENT

President Valera said it appeared to him extraordinary that "with all the good will the British say they have for us they can treat us very differently from the way they treat, for instance, Russia."

The British Government, he continued, thought it could squeeze the Irish people, and the whole aim of the British policy had been to try by pressure to drive the Irish people away from the Government they had chosen themselves and to restore the Government of Mr. Cosgrave, which worked with so much amity with the United Kingdom in the past.

He announced he would make a statement tomorrow regarding disposition of the land annuities and remarked that hardships imposed by British tariffs were not comparable with the hardships caused by paying the annuities.

SAANICH BOARD CUTS SALARIES

Reductions in Teachers' Wages Total More Than $7,000

Reduction in Saanich teachers' salaries, totaling more than $7,000 annually, were effected by the Saanich School Board at a meeting last night, when the teachers' salary committee accepted a new scale adopted by the board. The new agreement will become effective on January 1. By the plan annual payment of salaries will be reduced to about $93,000. Sixty-five teachers are affected by the reduction.

The reductions as effected by the board, given in a statement from the board, follow: Single teachers receiving $800 a year or more, 5 per cent; $1,300 and over, 7-1-2 per cent; $1,800 and over, 10 per cent; $2,300 and over, 15 per cent; married teachers, $1,000 and over, 5 per cent; $2,000 and over, 7-1-2 per cent; $2,500 and over, 10 per cent; $3,000 and over, 15 per cent.

The purpose of the delegation's visit was to discuss with the board employment of certain married teachers and alleged discrimination on the part of the trustees. Objection was raised by both teachers and trustees to such employment, but after lengthy discussion an amicable agreement was reached.

CAPTURED AFTER SIX WEEKS' HUNT

Pose Takes Man Wanted for Falsely Shooting Two Prohibition Agents

VANCOUVER, Wash., Nov. 15 (AP).—Offering no resistance, Jesse E. Cousins was surrounded and captured in a shack several miles from here last night, after a six weeks' search following the shooting of two Seattle Federal prohibition agents, both of whom died.

Confronted by a posse led by Sheriff R. E. McCricle, he gave himself up, saying he had been living in the bush since the shooting, which occurred on September 29. The shack is four miles northeast of here.

The hiding place was revealed in a "tip" given to a deputy sheriff, and Sheriff McCricle, who has been ill, rose from a sick bed to lead the party to capture Cousins.

The two agents, Ernest Vlasich and Allard W. Turner, were shot as they raided the Cousins place near Prosser, Wash. Turner was killed outright, and Vlasich died of his wounds some time later at a hospital.

Before his death, authorities said, Vlasich told them that Cousins had fired point blank at the two of them when they tried to arrest him after buying some liquor from him.

SAID CLAIM AGAINST THE LAW OF GRAVITY

VANCOUVER, Nov. 15.—In spite of counsel's argument, advanced on behalf of B.C. Electric Railway Co. Ltd., that plaintiff's account of the accident was opposed to the law of gravity, Mr. Justice Fisher in Supreme Court awarded Mrs. Beaulieu, West Thirty-Third, $1,304 damages.

Plaintiff alleged that she was injured on May 23 when thrown from a defective seat on a Dunbar Street car.

"Last night my wife told me I was the finest man she ever met and—" "Well, how did you like her new gown?"

PROVISIONS OF NEW TRADE PACT TO BECOME LAW AT MIDNIGHT

reached at Ottawa the preference would have lapsed today.

EXCEPT FREE STATE

Toronto's Treasury order continued preferences on goods from all countries of the British Empire with the exception of the Irish Free State, which failed to conclude an agreement with the United Kingdom at Ottawa.

Remaining provisions of the Ottawa Agreements Act, brought into force at once, concern powers and duties of the Treasury and the Board of Trade, which require no immediate action.

Duties brought into effect are those covered by the agreements with Canada, Australia, New Zealand, South Africa and Southern Rhodesia. All these countries already have taken steps to give effect to tariff changes agreed upon at Ottawa.

NOT YET READY

The only countries of the Empire which have not yet taken such steps are India and Newfoundland. As the Treasury order made no provision to bring into operation those parts of the act required solely by terms of agreements with these countries.

Provision is made also for postponement at present of the duty on copper.

The Ottawa agreements provide the proposed duty on copper may be removed if Empire producers are unable or unwilling to sell copper at world prices and in quantities sufficient to supply requirements of consumers in the United Kingdom.

POSITION DISCUSSED

Copper consumers in the United Kingdom and nearly all the copper producers of the Empire have discussed the position during the past few weeks and it is said they agreed to support the proposed duty on copper other than electrolytic. The date when a duty can be imposed on electrolytic copper will be decided in the light of a further report from representatives of producers and consumers.

The only other part of the Ottawa Agreements Act postponed by the Treasury order is Section VII which deals with importations of Canadian goods by the Empire.

Consideration is being given to the date on which this section will become effective. Goods on which new duties will not be effective before Thursday include cod liver oil, linseed oil, chilled or frozen salmon, unwrought copper and manganese chloride.

FRENCH SCHEME BEING STUDIED

Arms Proposal Received With Mixed Approval—Italians Skeptical

GENEVA, Nov. 15 (AP).—Generally the French disarmament proposals published yesterday, which provide for European security pacts and for the replacement of Europe's professional armies with short-term conscript troops, were well received. But the comment was widely heard that the plan was very complex.

The German Foreign Minister, Baron Konstantin von Neurath, will be in Geneva next Monday for a meeting of the League of Nations Council. At that time strenuous efforts will be made by representatives of the great powers to achieve an agreement on the German army issue.

The Italians informally expressed some skepticism over the feasibility of this international army project and over the proposal for the maintenance of stocks of war materials under League control.

GERMANY NOT ENTHUSED

BERLIN, Nov. 15 (AP).—Sources which ordinarily reflect the opinion of the German Foreign Office appeared today to be cool about the new French disarmament plan.

These sources described the French scheme as the political organization of Europe on the French model. They said the plan amounted to a set of old ideas in a new dress.

Eight were taken into custody today on information laid by the management of the Bras d'Or Colliery, operators of the mine. Two others were taken from a mass meeting held tonight.

Tonight, miners employed in the pit decided to request Norman MacKenzie, deputy minister of mines for the province, to investigate the circumstances.

Offshore Lumber Trade Held Own During This Year

Increased Loadings Reported for United Kingdom Points on Customs Returns for Eight-Month Period—Victoria Suffered Setback

OFFSHORE lumber shipments, including some logs, to all destinations from British Columbia mills totaled 384,824,655 feet between January and August this year, compared with 438,447,333 feet in the corresponding period of last year, it was learned at the Legislative Buildings yesterday. The figures, based on customs returns, differ slightly from P.L.I.B. report, owing to the different basis on which they were prepared.

New Westminster and Chemainus gave a volume increase in the figures for the eight-month period this year, and United Kingdom loadings were generally heavier.

RETURNS BY PORTS

By ports, with the figures for eight months last year in brackets following current returns, the details were as follows: Chemainus 59,699,364 feet (43,282,000); New Westminster, 112,314,348 feet (108,643,785); Port Alberni, 61,472,552 feet (67,362,087); Vancouver, 145,152,844 feet (183,827,185); Victoria, 5,819,611 feet (18,400,814); miscellaneous, 364,996 feet (18,831,462); total, 384,824,655 feet (438,447,333).

The decrease in the Victoria returns were partly accounted for by the closing down of one mill. From March to August there was a steady decrease in the shipments from this port; those for June being 508,492 feet, compared with 454,938 in June of last year.

GREAT BRITAIN TAKES MORE
Offshore shipments to the United Kingdom and Continent totaled 74,449,936 in the eight-month period, compared with 59,080,334 in the corresponding period last year. Chemainus, New Westminster, Alberni and Vancouver all exceeded their previous totals in this regard.

Aggregate totals include logs

JUDGE REFUSES TO REOPEN WAGE CASE

An application to reopen the action of Margaret Rogers against Investors' Syndicate which was decided last month in favor of the defendant company was refused by Judge Peter S. Lampman in County Court here yesterday morning. The application was made by H. Beckwith, counsel for Miss Rogers, who endeavored to reopen the case to put in new evidence. The judge, however, ruled that the evidence was not of a character to warrant reconsideration.

Miss Rogers sued Investors' Syndicate for approximately $300 alleged as wages due her as the difference between the monthly amount she was paid and the amount she was entitled to receive under the Minimum Wage Act. The judge held at the trial that Miss Rogers was not an employee of the syndicate, but had been engaged by a representative of the company in Victoria.

NEW MOVEMENT MAKES HEADWAY

Very Rev. C. S. Quantin, Dean of Columbia, Addressed Kiwanis Club on Character of Revival

The New Oxford Movement which is taking hold of the religious thought in the Old Country with great force was the subject of an address by Dean Quantin before the Kiwanis Club yesterday. During his visit to England the speaker said he had made a study of the movement and was deeply impressed with the movement and its results.

He stated that he had gone somewhat in the role of a theological inquisitor. In all his experience he had never before had the ethical and the personal appeal of Christ so put up to him as by these people. It broke one down and then lifted him up. It made one miserable and then made him happy. The Bible became a more fascinating book, and a cleaner mind was obtained.

The Dean said that his ecclesiastical and theological conditions were unchanged, but a new way of thinking had come to him as a result of the change.

WILL VISIT HERE

Some of those who were connected with the movement had promised to come here. He hoped when they came that they would be given a whole hearted reception. There was a wonderful spirit of fellowship among these people. Unforced hilarity characterized them. They believed in letting Christ run their lives. In this connection the efficacy of the quiet time every morning was stressed by members of the movement. The starting of the day with this contemplation of the work of the day in the light of the example of Christ was the most effective, as he could testify from experience. The mind was thus cleansed and the guidance of God for the day was sought.

The speaker felt that the future of Christianity was safe when it produced the results attained by those in the movement.

Dean Quantin pointed out that perhaps in the world today there might be need, as some advised, of a spiritual revival. H. G. Wells, in his history, had suggested that perhaps there might be need of a revival of religious emotions which might drive through like a great wind making for different things. It might be that the movement was the first breath of that wind.

COURT CLIPS $25,000 OFF COLLEGE TAX

Supreme Court Judge Renders Important Decision in Assessment Case

JUDGMENT LIKELY TO GO TO APPEAL COURT

No action in the matter of an appeal against the decision of Mr. Justice D. A. McDonald in the St. Louis College assessment case may be taken until after counsel for the corporation has been given instructions. The matter will be considered at a meeting of the City Council at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon, when it is expected that instructions will be given to take the matter to the Appeal Court of British Columbia, which sits here next January.

Established precedents tending to uphold modern opinions supporting assessment valuations based on structural or replacement cost were set aside by Mr. Justice D. A. McDonald in Supreme Court chambers here yesterday morning when he allowed the appeal of the Bishop of Victoria against the city's Court of Revision and reduced the assessment of St. Louis College from $30,000 to $25,000.

Had the decision of Mr. Justice McDonald been final it would have laid the whole of the city's assessment open to attack from owners of buildings constructed for any purpose regardless of cost, and for which there would be little or no possibility of sale if placed in the open market.

SECTION IS VAGUE

Nevertheless the judgment of Mr. Justice McDonald is an important one because it draws attention to the section of the Municipal Act dealing with assessment which, the judge agreed, was inadequate to protect the method adopted as the standard of assessment by all municipalities. He referred to Section 212 of the act. Section 212 was left standing alone, stripped of any enabling legislation, when the Municipal Act dealing with assessment was re-enacted in 1925.

The section upon which the appeal here rested is as follows: "For the purposes of taxation, land, except as hereinafter provided, shall be assessed at its actual value, and improvements shall be assessed for the amount of the difference between the actual value of the whole property and the actual value of the improvements, if there were no improvements; provided, however, that land and improvements shall be assessed separately."

QUESTION OF VALUE

C. H. O'Halloran, counsel for the Bishop of Victoria, argued his case on the grounds that the actual value of the property assessed would be the amount payable by a reasonable, willing and prudent purchaser to a reasonable, willing and prudent vendor. St. Louis College was built at a cost of $58,000, and it was held by Mr. O'Halloran that the marketable value of the structure was negligible. It was built for a specific purpose and it could only be used for that purpose, and therefore the value of the building to the occupier should not have been fixed as the structural cost, he maintained.

COUNSEL STOPPED

H. A. Maclean, K.C., counsel for the City of Victoria, had barely touched the main argument in opposition to the appeal when he was stopped by Mr. Justice McDonald. "I am against you, Mr. Maclean," said Mr. Justice McDonald. "I am going to reduce the assessment to $25,000," said His Lordship.

"But this is unusual," complained Mr. Maclean, who endeavored to continue his argument. "I would like to point out to your Lordship—"

"Well, your ammunition for the Court of Appeal," interrupted the bench.

Mr. Maclean persisted in his efforts to gain the ear of the judge, but without success. "I am through," said Mr. Justice McDonald. "It was my duty to reserve my decision in this matter, but I cannot see that any good would be done by doing so. The assessment is reduced to $25,000."

HAS LITTLE FAITH

As a measure of comfort to counsel for the city, His Lordship admitted he had little faith in his decision.

FREEZONE

"How can anyone be sure so long as they leave that section in the Municipal Act the way it is?"

"If that's the case, you might do the same to every piece of property in the city," Mr. Maclean argued.

Mr. Justice McDonald closed the argument by repeating he was through with the case.

The appeal, if one is launched, will be heard by the Court of Appeal, which sits in Victoria next January.

The assessment of the St. Louis College was placed by the assessment commission at $30,000. This was reduced by the Court of Revision to $25,000, and the appeal heard yesterday was from the decision of the Court of Revision.

ONUS OF APPEAL

Observers of municipal assessment and experts on municipal taxation have not been stupified by the decision of the Supreme Court here, it was learned late yesterday after the decision of Mr. Justice McDonald, which was that the onus of appeal to the decision of the city's Court of Revision was on the appellant, and simply one that shifts the onus of appeal to the shoulders of the civic legal department.

The statement of the court that there could be little faith in the decision given yesterday would indicate the judge was firmly convinced that the matter was one which rightly belonged to the higher tribunal, and that no final decision could be reached by extending an argument based upon a section of the Municipal Act which, assessment officials admitted, was not adequate to protect the method of assessment.

NEW LEGISLATION

Individual members of the Court of Revision intimated that there would have to be new legislation correcting the situation created by Section 212, but they do not view the decision of the Supreme Court judge with alarm.

Legal opinions of barristers not directly interested in the case at hand yesterday are that the trial judge had already decided to send the matter to the Court of Appeal, otherwise he would not have placed a barrier in the way of counsel for the respondent in refusing to hear him through his argument and to be certain that an appeal would be taken, he made the reduction a substantial amount.

SUE ESTATE FOR CRASH DAMAGES

Jury Gives Award, but Judgment Reserved for Argument on Point of Law

REVELSTOCK, Nov. 15.—Asking for damages amounting to $12,185, arising out of an automobile accident last year as the result of which the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. Kirk, of Arrowhead, was killed, Mrs. Kirk injured, and Captain W. Fraser killed, an action brought by the Kirks against the Fraser estate was heard by a special jury at the Fall sittings here, before Chief Justice Aulay Morrison.

The jury awarded the plaintiffs $7,529 damages, but the Chief Justice reserved decision on motion for judgment on a point of law as to whether the estate was liable.

The defence contended that the action did not survive against the estate.

WHO OWNS THE BANKS?

The plank in the British Labor Party's platform for the nationalization of banks has aroused some controversy in Britain. There is, perhaps, no subject on which the public are so bemused as that dealing with banking, and all its interdependent features affecting money, credit, exchange and the handling of currency. The statements are frequently made that the banks are immensely rich, that the control of money involves power for good or ill for the community and that bankers cannot be trusted to wield that power well, in fact that the people, through Parliament, should control the money. Judging from the manner in which national control has been exercised in so many instances, by being made a political football, it would seem as if the suggestion for the nationalization of banks was with malice aforethought among the schemes of reform exercising men's minds.

The amusing thing about the proposal for Government control of banks is that people, in putting forward such an argument, are quarrelling with themselves. It is not the directors or the head offices that own the banks. It is the people who are the shareholders and the depositors. So far as the banks are concerned, Mr. Richard Dobson, general manager of Williams Deacon's Bank, Ltd., points out that in Britain 350,000 shareholders own less than one-tenth of the total funds and what they own is the money that forms a guarantee to all who entrust their money to the banks, namely the depositors. "It is the depositors," says Mr. Dobson, "who own the great sums administered by the banks. There are not less than 7,000,000 of them—probably more. They are men, women, children, workmen, small traders, large traders, manufacturers, statesmen, lawyers, accountants, architects, doctors, companies trading and financial—all the people who go to make our England. These are the people who own the large funds administered by the banks—without them there is no bank. It is to the depositor the banker's first duty lies."

Mr. Dobson points out that none of the depositors in his bank has come and said "I do not like the idea of my £100 being in your uncontrolled hands. I think it ought to be under popular control." Such a depositor in the banks is likely to ask, "What has my money in the banks to do with the people who want to place it under popular control?" Then Mr. Dobson says: "I am told there are people who, under the guise of political theories or slogans, are merely covetous, and think that if they could gain control of these banks they could somehow distribute the shareholders' capital and the customers' deposits among deserving persons, who would, of course, include themselves—a sort of legalized loot. This is, of course, very crude. Bank funds are composed of a mass of assets and a mass of liabilities, and depend for their value on a million activities and a million contracts, which in turn depend upon good faith being kept by millions of people. Destroy the good faith, and the looters might as well make one good fire of the whole—there would be left the silver and copper coin, but what they would buy no man can tell."

CLAIM FOR £400,000,000

Mr. de Valera's claim against Britain for £400,000,000 on the basis of over-taxation in Ireland extending over a long period of years is perhaps as fantastic as any ever put forward by any one country against another in the matter of the amount claimed. It reaches the high water mark in financial jokes. If it has any point in morality and in law there would probably be equal justice in Britain herself laying claim upon the successors of Julius Caesar for, say, a billion billion pounds as reparation, and, incidentally, a similar claim might be made because of the results of the Norman Conquest.

The claim of Mr. de Valera is based on the reports of the Children's Commission and the Primrose Committee. It is advanced because of the attitude assumed by Britain in the case of Land Annuities. As a matter of fact, however, the Children's Commission made no attempt to estimate alleged over-taxation in Ireland. It did state that in 1893-1894 Ireland was over-taxed to the extent of £2,500,000 a year for the two years, and indicated that "there may have been some over-taxation since 1854." The Primrose Committee of 1912 did not deal with the question of over-taxation in the past. It did state, however, that the local taxation of Ireland at that date exceeded its existing revenue by over £2,000,000 a year.

The crux of the issues between Britain and Free State Ireland is the Agreement of 1923 and 1925. Britain takes the attitude that it is the recognized practice of nations that agreements concluded between representatives of Governments are binding upon the Governments concerned unless they are expressly stated to be subject to ratification. No such statement occurs in the Agreements of 1923 and 1925. The former Agreement was signed for the Free State by the President of the Executive Council and the latter by the Minister of Finance. The Irish Free State Parliament passed legislation in 1923, subsequent to the Agreement of that year, to give effect to that part of it which provides for the payment of Land Annuities to the appropriate fund, namely, the Land Purchase Fund held by the National Debt Commissioners. As regards other payments the sums required have been voted each year by the Irish Free State Parliament and included in the Appropriation Act. The only provisional aspect of the 1923 Agreement was that it should remain in force unless altered by the Ultimate Financial Settlement. Article 12 of the 1925 Agreement stipulated that, "for the purposes of any previous Agreements between the two Governments this Agreement shall be deemed to be the Ultimate Financial Settlement mentioned therein."

GROWING EXPORTS TO BRITAIN

Mr. Harrison Walson, Canada's Trade Commissioner in London, has informed the Department of Trade and Commerce that there is a very general anticipation that the recent Imperial Conference has inaugurated an era of increased trade and development in Empire countries. Every support is lent to this anticipation by the actual increases that have already taken place in the trade between Canada and the United Kingdom, many of which, of course, received their impetus by knowledge of the fact that a new reciprocal trade agreement was about to be negotiated. That fact was known for several months before the Imperial Conference met at Ottawa, and the outcome has been a very definite increase in the amount of Canadian goods that the United Kingdom is now importing.

In the case of wheat, imports to the United Kingdom from Canada increased during the first nine months of the present year to 28,670,455 cwt., in comparison with 20,667,228 cwt. in the first nine months of 1931. Oats also increased from 901,091 cwt. to 1,754,426 cwt. Canada is now Britain's chief supplier of flour, and during the first nine months of the present year exports of 2,724,592 cwt. were sent to the United Kingdom. Canadian bacon exports to Britain increased from 17,045 cwt. for the first nine months of 1931 to 155,692 cwt. for the first nine months of the present year. In this respect Canada can do a great deal better because Britain annually imports 8,500,000 cwt. of bacon. Exports of Canadian cheese to Britain have risen from 312,391 cwt. to 450,218 cwt. for the nine months of the present year, and in canned salmon Canada supplied 115,318 cwt. out of the 254,000 cwt. which Britain received from all sources. There is also a very substantial increase in the amount of Canadian tobacco shipped to the United Kingdom. Manufactured tobacco to the amount of 8,937,337 pounds was shipped to the United Kingdom for the first nine months of the present year as compared with 5,049,159 pounds during the same period in 1931.

The campaign against cadet training in the schools is being vigorously pushed in Toronto. Its most aggressive support comes from the Communists. In 1915 cadet training was regarded as a blessing because people were fighting for self preservation. At that time cadet training was spoken of as good for boys, making them manly, steady, respectful, efficient, and alert. It makes them just as much so today, and there is just as much need for discipline in the task of facing the problems of peace as there ever was in facing the problems of war. Had there been discipline among people as a whole in meeting and coping with economic depression, the era of bad times would have been met and conquered with that courage and endurance the lack of which has been a detriment in coping with the problem.

British Columbia's Douglas fir has received a good advertisement in Britain through a pamphlet just issued by the Department of Scientific and Industrial Research. It points out that the increasing demand for Empire timbers for general use in Great Britain has encouraged the production of special classifications of British Columbia timbers, and quite recently new grades of Douglas fir have been standardized to meet the particular needs of the British market. These new grades are marketed under the name "Kilay Merchantable." Besides being stronger, the timber is also stiffer than its foreign competitors.

STONEHENGE

Breaking the eager surge of springing green. Stonehenge stands mellowed, lavender and grey. Tinted with ruin, fingered by decay. Symbol of that which is and still has been. For truth, though steadfast, from afar is seen: Her lamp, now bright, now dim, appears to waver. Superficial, is lost to eyes astray. Confused by earth-lit torches' flaming screen. We peer, we grope, we test each ear and nose. Those most acclaimed of yore reject with scorn; Embury new tenets framed to suit the age. Erect new temples set to face what's new? Foredoomed as this, that can no faith engage. Stupendous relic of a creed outworn.

Note and Comment

By R. H. D.

Disseminated notions sometimes break forth in disguised strappings.

The most learned of all the professors tells us that the mysterious principle called life (probably for lack of a better name) germinated in the ooze or refuse of the great saline waters. In other words, it is stated that the beautiful manifestation called life was born in filth. Another authority declares that man, the highest form of physical life, was conceived in sin and brought forth in iniquity.

People who have not attained the honors or dignity claimed by professors, however, are not deeply interested in such abstract speculations. A matter of more immediate concern is engaging public attention at the present time. A wave of sickness which is not as much of a disease as an indisposition is sweeping through many households. Years and years ago there was a real epidemic of influenza which spread like a prairie fire throughout the world and prostrated both life and business throughout this continent. We have a particularly vivid recollection of that visitation because in the establishment with which we happened to be connected at the time in a very minor capacity one-third of the staff was laid upon its back—and that was a very serious thing in the routine of a daily newspaper.

There were professors of medical science in those days, but they could not have been as learned in all the learning of the schools as the professors of these days. Neither were they so numerous. So the new disease perplexed the physicians who were practising their profession. They had never encountered anything quite like it in their experience. Common colds were as common as they are in these days; but neither in symptoms nor in consequences was this a common cold. Then when practically all the world emerged from a really learned professor emerged from some obscure place and claimed the truth about the mysterious disease. The germ of it was born in Russia, probably in that part of Russia which is Oriental, and wafted by the winds across to this continent to take its inevitable toll of human life and leave many who survived its ravages permanently affected in body. That was the first experience of the outer world with what they make a specialty of in Russia. Hence the medical term Russian influenza.

Thus it would appear that both life and the maladies which are inimical to life are born of ooze or filth. The Occident is indebted to the Orient for many things which are good, but the Occident is indebted to the Orient for many other things which are not so good. Our Oriental neighbors have been endowed with many high qualities, but they also have been afflicted with a disposition to endure, if not actually embrace, conditions which in the highest degree sanitary. None of the people of Oriental countries, with the notable exception of the Japanese, were addicted to the bath. If they had been the Black Plague would not have swept over Europe and penetrated America to take a toll of millions of human life. Smallpox has for ages decimated China, and has only been held in check in India through the vigilance of British medical supervision. In order to guard its health the Occident maintains a strict quarantine against the Orient.

The modern professors deliver almost daily discourses about the necessity of maintaining an "open mind" and the abiding virtue of tolerance. They tell us there is nothing altogether bad in any system, and that there may be much that is good in the Russian system of economics and ethics. The position of the professors may be perfectly sound in its application to the position of the people of Russia, but the position of the professors may not be so sound if it is intended to convey an impression upon the callow youth who sit at the feet of the learned and tolerant professors that a revolution such as they admire in Russia would be a blessing to the people of nations who set some store upon the principles of individual liberty and personal independence.

But there is something to be said for the position of the professors. The fact that the station of professors, preachers and other theorists is the lowest in the Russian economic and social scale does not affect their admiration of the Soviet system of government. In Russia it is not a capital offense to commit murder, but if there are any theorists in Russia who venture to publicly or privately express doubts respecting the merits of the Soviet system of government as compared with any other system of government, a volley from a firing squad summarily ends their activities. That is the form of treatment specially reserved for advocate of tolerance within the ranks of the Soviets. The difference between the theories of our professors and the facts in Russia is the difference between the abstract and the concrete. The professors know as much or as little about the actual conditions in Russia as common people such as you or we, but there is a novelty about those conditions which is attractive to the minds of students who sit at the feet and hang upon the words of the professors, and it is practically impossible to establish a quarantine against Russian ideas even when as dangerous as Russian diseases.

SAYS BUSINESS HAS IMPROVED

H. C. Ashdown, Head of Hardware Company, Sees Noticeable Change

"While business is far from what we would like to see it, there has been a noticeable improvement in the last two or three months," said H. C. Ashdown, of Winnipeg, when he was in the Empire Hotel yesterday. Mr. Ashdown is well qualified to speak with regard to Western Canadian conditions. As president of the H. C. Ashdown Hardware Company, with headquarters in Winnipeg and branches in Regina, Saskatoon, Calgary and Edmonton, he is now in the Empire Hotel, the headquarters of the Prairie territory.

The low price of wheat, said Mr. Ashdown, has had the effect of turning up a lot of grain, as the farmers are unwilling to put their crop on the market at the low price prevailing. In some instances, of course, they have been obliged to realize in order to meet pressing demands, but wherever possible there is a tendency to retain the wheat for a hoped-for rise in price. The situation is far as price is concerned is one which makes it impossible to blame farmers for taking such a course.

Mr. Ashdown is of the opinion that in the United States there has been an improvement for a little time back, and believes that the situation is manifesting a healthier tone all round.

Asks Citizens to Aid Conference by Supplying Billets

An urgent appeal to citizens of Victoria to assist in providing billets for the Boy Scout camp who will visit Victoria from Oregon, Washington, and other parts of British Columbia, November 25, 26 and 27, during the Pacific Leaders' Conference of the Pacific Northwest, has been made by Major J. Wise, district commissioner.

At the first time the gathering has been held for this city, and unless further billets can be secured, it may have to be canceled. The boys will be doing so support for one of 125 out of approximately 250 delegates that are expected.

Victorians wishing to support the Scouts by doing so support to telephone G 6849, R 5083 or E 7841.

World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst

MASTERS OF BRIDGE
Mr. William J. Huske, editor of The Bridge World, has always been best known as an analyst. The fact that he is as skillful a player as he is a writer is fully attested by his tournament record. Although a national champion has so far escaped him, it is rare that his name is not found among the leaders.

Mr. Huske turned to bridge after years of experience as a newspaperman. He was editor of The Bridge World Magazine for years and has managed the destinies of that prosperous career, in fact, it is in part due to his efforts that the magazine now enjoys the position of the leading authority on the game.

One of Mr. Huske's favorite hands is the following, on which he managed to pull victory from defeat after a series of remarkable overbids by his partner.

South—Dealer.
North—South vulnerable.

Mr. Huske sat South, and was a little surprised, when the dummy went down that his partner held only three hearts. He quickly put his feeling of distress aside, however, and formulated a plan whereby he was able to make his contract. The opening lead was a di-

SS. PRINCE RUPERT
Sir,—In Sunday's Colonist you published information from Vancouver of the fact the C.N.S.S. Prince Rupert had completed one thousand voyages from that port. You also state that the Prince Rupert was brought to this coast in 1910 by Capt. Barney Johnson. In this statement you err, as I was captain of the Prince Rupert when coming to this coast from Newcastle, England (where she was built). Captain Johnson taking over command on arrival at Bowen.

As the Panama Canal was not finished building for some years after we had made the long trip round through the Straits of Magellan, I also brought the Prince John out the same way in 1911.

MUNICIPAL ELECTION ISSUES

Sir,—There are at least three very important items that should be considered at the coming election and on which the voters should be given an opportunity to vote. The first is that advocated by R. T. Williams, namely, sweepstakes. The second is advocated by Walter Inward and Mr. Shannon, a municipally owned airport, and the third, the $25,000 gift to the public bureau. Personally, I consider if an annual outlay of $25,000, put into a real brick or cement building suitable for a community centre, no one would raise much objection. As it is not, not 5 per cent of the taxpayers get any benefit from the tourists and, as Uncle Sam is going wet, tourists will have no occasion to come to get an expensive drink.

WALTER J. DANDRIDGE,
1612 Fell Street, Victoria, B.C., November 14, 1932.

THE MILK ACT

Sir,—Under date of November 11 in The Vancouver Province I read with interest "The Government had little to say on the subject save that no part of the costs of litigation would fall on the Provincial Exchequer," and further, "While no official comment on the Privy Council's decision against the act, was forthcoming it was clear that the Government was relieved at the London verdict. It never believed in the act."

Without this confirming assurance from Victoria there is conclusive evidence during the past few years that the Cabinet never did believe in the act, also that members of the legal profession in the Cabinet were well aware that the act could not be sustained in a court of law. Why did the Hon. Premier and all members of his Cabinet except the Hon. President of the Council stand up and vote for legislation which they knew could not remain upon the statute books? Expense of promotion and the Privy Council, also expense of public meetings and propaganda, was borne by all farmers in the Fraser Valley who have been fruitfully exploited during a period of unprecedented depression. While the British Columbia Government is truthful in stating that part of the costs of litigation would fall on the Provincial Exchequer, this is cold comfort to the farmers who trusted their representatives to give them honest advice, men sworn to do their duty for God and country.

We are now faced with a situation which must be corrected from the foundation. With proper consideration for the consuming public, stabilization of price and quality in the city will give a living wage to the farmer. This should have been an accomplished fact on January 1, 1932, also again in March, 1932. Today a street price structure arrangement is the first step towards recovery from war tactics. All farmers' existing contracts are adjustable to the street price and are immediately reflected in the half-monthly milk cheques to producers. It is not better to focus our attention upon business to be started from a sound basis than to continue to discuss a costly experiment which, by admission of the Premier, was known to be ultra vires, and as a direct result of this abortive legislation all farmers in the Fraser Valley are in a state of nature.

FIFTY YEARS AGO TODAY

(From The Daily British Colonist of November 19, 1882)

Last evening James C. Scott, of Leech River, reported that he had been attacked between 10 and 11 o'clock by a Foully and the city by two armed men and robbed of $20. One man seized him by the throat, while the other relieved him of his money. The police are on the trail of the thieves.

According to a report in The Oregonian, Portland is to have a new four-story 1500-room hotel. The location will be in the Central School block, the site costing the purchasers $100,000.

The steamer Eleanore, belonging to the Bishop of Columbia, has had her engine room and boiler repaired and a surface condenser and hold down installed, and will sail for Port Simpson on Saturday morning.

Strikers have put dynamite in the main tank of the International Druggists at Des Moines, Iowa, and no one can be found plucky enough to take it out.

Windjammer Being Transformed Into Seagoing Showboat, Studio and Laboratory—Captain and Cabin Boy on Equal Pay, if Any

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 15 (AP).—Take sixty romantic dreams of the South Seas, one self-liquidating plan and one old sailing ship, mix vigorously and you have the Star of England expedition—adventure-hunting men and women undertaking a three-year cruise of the world on a co-operative earn-your-way-as-you-go and divide-the-profits-later-if-any plan.

The story of the expedition aims, unfolded by its leaders here today, was one of oddly varying components—something like a hodge-podge of Moby Dick and Alice in Wonderland.

The ship is being rebuilt into a seagoing showboat, studio and laboratory—a globe-trotting home, workshop and theatre for artists, writers, scientists and showmen.

LIFE WITHOUT WORRY
The avowed purpose of the expedition is travel, education, recreation and sustenance at a cost far below the average individual's expenses at home, and three years' combined work and play without having to worry about jobs or monthly bills.

Captain and cabin boy are to get the same amount of pay, if any. Owner, scientist, deckhand, author, cook, movie producer, mess boy and sculptor are to share equally in whatever fate or fortune lies ahead. Expenses are to be held as nearly as possible to the vanishing point. It costs nothing to sail a windjammer. Food is cheap and in some cases will cost nothing at all. Otherwise, the only costs, says the expedition leader, will be the financing of the ship's purchase and the few necessary supplies.

Food Problem Acute as Five-Year Plan Ends for Soviet

(Copyright, 1932, by the Associated Press)

MOSCOW, Nov. 15.—On the eve of the conclusion of the Five-Year Plan—which is being ended in four years—Soviet Russia is struggling with the old and difficult problem of food for its people.

The food situation is bound to be one of the chief problems of the second Five-Year Plan, now in the process of drafting. Russians are subsisting on most stringent rations.

SERIOUS SHORTAGE
There is a serious shortage of such commodities as wheat, sugar and butter. In the recent plan, by all indications, greater emphasis than ever will be placed on the improvement of general living standards.

Although the state of the country's food supply is admittedly bad—some Russians say it is worse than in 1928, when the Five-Year Plan started—no facts are available here to bear out dire predictions heard abroad of widespread suffering this winter. On the contrary, the 1932 harvest is expected to ease present harsh conditions to some extent.

The country failed last year to achieve planned increases in industrial production, but 1932 will record appreciable increases over the previous year.

Every industry except food, which showed little gain, records extensive increases.

HARVEST SLOWER
Although modern tractors and combines have been used than ever before, this year's harvest has not progressed as quickly as last year's. Collections of grain now are much behind those of 1931, amounting to a 27 per cent decrease in the first three months of the season. This decrease indicates the possibility of some hoarding on the part of peasants.

Collections of sugar beets also are badly in arrears. On the contrary, present to only 60 per cent of the plan for the year, and meat supplies recently became so scarce the Government found it necessary to ease collections in the form of a rural tax.

POOR SHOWING
The consequent lack of sufficient raw materials and the poor labor productivity were reflected in the poor showing of the food industry, embracing packing, canning, milling, distillation, and kindred processes, which in the first eight months of 1932 showed a gain of only a fraction more than 1 per cent over 1931.

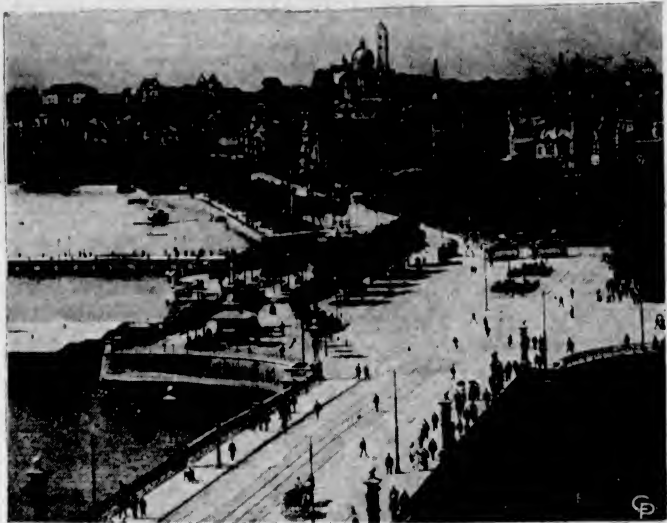

SALES TAX PLAN REVIVED IN U.S.

Adoption of Levy May Be Necessary to Meet Federal Deficit—Might Legislate Here

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15 (AP).—With the Federal deficit mounting steadily, Congressional leaders today began talking of the enactment of a manufacturers' sales tax and legalization of beer for revenue at the coming short session.

Representative Rainey, Illinois, Democratic floor leader, said he could not "think of any other source," except a sales tax from which to obtain additional revenue required by the treasury. Immediate passage of a uniform and moderate manufacturers' sales tax, to be supplemented by a 10 per cent beer tax, was proposed by Representative Britten, Illinois, Republican. Rainey expressed doubt that the present Congress would enact legislation, while Collier estimated revenue amounting to about $300,000,000 could be derived from that source.

Violence and Riots Disturb Geneva

GENEVA, home of the League of Nations, Disarmament Conferences and all international conferences for the furtherance of peace and good will among the nations, was torn asunder last week by machine gun bullets, strife and violence, as a general strike was declared and a three-way fight raged between Communists, Swiss soldiers and Nationalists. The battle took a toll of twelve lives, with hundreds injured.

EARLY HISTORY IS DESCRIBED

John Hesse Delights Members of Round Table With Interesting Address

Dealing in a hurried way with the dramatic scenes and the wonderful personages connected with the early history of what is now British Columbia, John Hesse, provincial archivist, kept the members of the Round Table intensely interested for nearly two hours last evening. On the conclusion of his address, which was illustrated with lantern views, the thanks of the organization were conveyed to the speaker by M. Kirkpatrick Crockett, the president.

Starting with the arrival of Sir Francis Drake in the Pacific in 1579, the speaker took his audience up to the romantic days of the gold rush in the Cariboo. During the progress of the historical sketch, Mr. Hesse made references to various important discoveries which were being constantly made, throwing new light on the history of the Pacific.

TO PRESERVE TOWN

Relative to Barkerville, the centre of the gold mining of the early days of the Cariboo rush, he gave the information that a rather pretentious plan was afoot through private channels looking to the preservation of the old historic places in that part of the province by the acquiring of the site of the town and the keeping of it in its present condition for all time.

B.C.-St. Lawrence Service Warrants Winter Operations to Saint John

MONTREAL, Nov. 15 (CP).—Successful operation of a steamship service between Montreal and the Pacific Coast has led the Canadian Transport Company, Limited, to consider seriously the establishment of a similar winter service between Saint John and the Pacific Coast.

The company this year inaugurated the Vancouver-St. Lawrence Line to carry on this service and results have been such as to warrant the operation of the line throughout the year.

The new motor vessel Pacific Commerce, of 9,010 tons deadweight capacity, is now discharging in Montreal a large quantity of lumber and general cargo, and is due to sail on November 24 with one of the largest shipments ever made from here to Vancouver, amounting to some 5,000 tons.

According to Furness, Withy & Company, Limited, agents for the line in Montreal, the Pacific Commerce made the trip from British Columbia to Quebec, where she called to discharge part of her cargo, in twenty-nine days.

The Pacific Commerce brought the largest mixed cargo of lumber and general commodities ever shipped from British Columbia to the St. Lawrence. She carried approximately 4,000,000 feet of lumber and slightly less than 2,000 tons of general cargo. Some idea of the magnitude of the lumber shipment is indicated by the fact that no less than ninety standard railway cars will be required to transport inland one-half of the total amount brought here.

Members of College Science Club Hear Interesting Talks by Fellow Students

Members of the Science Club of Victoria College heard several addresses by other students at a meeting held in the institution last night, presided over by William Findlay.

Miss Phoebe Riddell dealt with "Magic Squares," explaining their theory and the number of magic squares it was known could be arranged in order that numbers comprising them total the same when added, vertically, horizontally and diagonally.

In an address on "Anthropology," Roger Phillips traced the history of the human race, making reference to the numerous leaders who had been instrumental for great changes down through the ages.

ATOMIC ENERGY

"Atomic Energy" was the topic of talk by Howard McMahon, president of the club. Mr. McMahon spoke of the work in this connection as carried on by Harkins and Rutherford, the principal leaders in developing theories on atomic energy. "Spectroscopes" were described by

• When Intestines Functioned Normally Again • Her Skin Quickly Cleared • All Due to Fresh Yeast •

DR. MAZERAN, the noted French specialist, explains how fresh yeast corrects constipation, the cause of so many cases of bad skin. He describes a typical case below.

UGLY BLEMISHES GONE—thanks to fresh yeast. That's because yeast "tones" and purifies the system. Isn't this simple method well worth trying?

DOCTORS recommend yeast*. Here's extract from article by Dr. Cadenas, noted Madrid specialist.

"Her SKIN completely CLEARED"

HOW many girls do you know whose lives are miserable because of constantly recurring skin eruptions?
It's so often entirely unnecessary!

Read about this typical case described by the famous French specialist, Dr. A. P. Mazeran:—

... a young woman, suffering from an unsightly eruption on the face. Trying to rid herself of her troubles she had dosed herself with laxative pills and cathartics. Instead of clearing up her condition the skin eruptions became steadily worse. In desperation she came to me.

And Dr. Mazeran adds simply: "I put her at once on a yeast régime. We did not have to wait long for results: : : Her skin cleared up completely."

Most people know that intestinal sluggishness is perhaps the commonest cause of skin eruptions.

But like the young woman described by Dr. Mazeran, few know how to get rid of it. Fresh yeast, doctors explain, is a purifying agent. That is because it acts to "tone," strengthen and cleanse the sluggish intestinal

Nationality of Married Women Under Review

Mrs. C. C. Spofford Gives Able Summary of Subject of Feminine Interest at Meeting of Local Council of Women

An extremely able summary of the Nationality of Married Women was submitted by Mrs. C. C. Spofford at the meeting of the Local Council of Women yesterday afternoon. This report, prepared at the special request of the council, showed the unjust and ambiguous position occupied by women in most of the civilized world, and also testified to the lively interest which many of the leading international women's organizations are taking in trying to secure for their sex at least the same recognition of nationality independent of marriage which is enjoyed by men.

In beginning her address, Mrs. Spofford cited the instance of a young Englishman traveling in Siberia who, having lost his passport, received every possible assistance from his Government. Had he been married the Government would have gone to the same trouble to protect the wife even had she been a born alien, because she would have been, as his wife, a British subject. On the other hand, had it been the case of a British-born woman who had married an alien, the British Government would not and could not interfere, because of the existing law which gives the wife the nationality of her husband.

WITHOUT A COUNTRY At the present time a woman might be "stateless" without a country, or she might have a double nationality if she married an alien whose country recognized the conferring of citizenship in her marriage while her own country permitted her to retain citizenship after marriage with an alien.

"The status of a British-born woman marrying an alien is that she is treated by her own country as an alien and is deprived of the protection of the British Government when abroad. She is refused a passport, is told that she is an alien, must register with the police any time she moves, and may come under ban in trying to obtain work in Britain," it was noted. On the other hand the husband's country might be one which did not confer citizenship, in which event the unfortunate woman would have no nationality whatever.

Britain also imposed nationality on a woman if she married a British subject, in which respect it differed from the United States, which did not confer citizenship on a woman just because she married an American national.

In this country a woman with an alien husband was subject to property confiscation.

NOT FAIR "This," commented Mrs. Spofford, "does not seem fair; but it is the law." Whereas it was impossible for a woman to separate from her husband to regain her nationality, a woman married to a man who exercised the privilege of changing his nationality during his marriage might declare her wish to remain a British subject.

Since the session of the British Nationality and Status of Aliens Bill, passed by the House of Commons in 1914, an effort had been made to amend the law, but throughout the Empire of uniformity in nationality laws, and with respect to the status of married women the British Government had not been enforced in all parts of the Commonwealth through the action of the several Dominion Governments.

Mrs. Spofford said that Canada was the only Government in the Commonwealth that endorsed the principle of nationality laws which differentiated between men and women in this matter of nationality. Since 1917, the British National Council of Women had approached every Imperial conference on the subject, and had organized support from forty-five national or state organized bodies throughout the Empire, asking that women in the several Dominions be given the right to retain their nationality on marriage with an alien.

Mrs. H. P. Hodges moved a cordial vote of thanks to the speaker.

BEER PARLORS UNDER REVIEW

Women's Council Requesting Legislature to Restore Early Closing Time

A resolution asking that a request go to the British Columbia Legislature that the beer parlors be restricted to at most eight hours a day was carried unanimously by the Local Council of Women when introduced at the monthly meeting by Mrs. Collis, president of the W.C.T.U. Mrs. William Grant seconded.

In the discussion which preceded the putting of the resolution, Mrs. W. D. Todd pointed out that the beer parlors were actually not open longer hours than prior to the change some months ago, which advanced the opening time as well as the closing time by one half-hour. One member who lives in Esquimalt commented on the number of irresponsible motorists who were to be seen in the district after the parlors closed. This resolution is to come before the annual meeting.

COULD NOT ENDORSE At the previous meeting of the Local Council, Mrs. C. C. Spofford presented a paper and report on an amendment from the New Westminster Council to the act making "guilty of an indictable offence anyone who unlawfully abandons or exposes any child under two years of age whereby its life is endangered or its health permanently injured." The New Westminster amendment reading as follows: "Everyone is guilty of indictable offence, control, or charge of a child under the age of eighteen years ill-treated, neglected, abandoned, or exposed such child or causes or procures or allows such child to be ill-treated, neglected, abandoned, or exposed, is liable to five years' imprisonment with whipping." Mrs. Spofford said that after careful study of the amendment, she could not recommend the council to endorse unless the age was changed to fourteen, and whipping omitted.

FUND REDUCED Mrs. Angus Galbraith gave for Mrs. Annie Booth a report of the Local Council of Women's fund established some years ago, for the establishment of an operating table at the Jubilee Hospital for children whose parents could not afford to pay for necessary operations. The statement showed that the fund, established in March, 1927, which originally amounted to $2,286.51, had shrunk to $45.93 as the result of helping more than 300 children. Mrs. H. P. Hodges, seconded by Mrs. V. S. MacLachlan, moved that Mrs. Booth be heartily thanked for the splendid work she had done in administering the fund.

Mrs. A. E. Johnson, representing the Woman's Auxiliary of the Typographical Union, received the support of the council in her request that all printed matter used by the Local Council be stamped with the Allied Trades label.

Correspondence included a letter from Government House expressing a desire to extend hospitality during their visit here to Miss Winifred Kydd, president of the National Council of Women and Canadian delegate to the Disarmament Conference at Geneva.

Leg Irons Found In Alberni Woods Suggest Tragedy

PORT ALBERNI, B.C., Nov. 15 (CP).—A set of leg irons believed to be about one hundred years old was found in the woods in a vicinity recently, and is believed to conclude the story of some old-time English or Spanish sailor who crossed his captain and was put in chains. It is believed the man escaped from his ship and managed to flee away the last of his life.

The sailor's freedom, gained him only death apparently, for many years ago the skeleton of a man was found under the same tree and the skeleton and the chains are believed to tell parts of the same story.

Just Roamin' Around

I was a wily wind-blowing that developed into huge proportions when our heroine at length arrived at her lovely home. Placing her manifold parcels down on the doormat while she opened her front door, she was amazed to find, on gathering up her trophies of the chase, that one parcel was missing.

The days went by, and lengthened into weeks, but no sign of the missing package brought relief to the lady. Then one day a neighbor called and the lady's husband got a shock, for he had handed to him, "your wife's new hat," which looked like a prehistoric headpiece after its windy flight and long immersion in a rain puddle in the vegetable garden of next door. The wild rains had relieved it of its paper covering, and, tired of the sport of "raining a bonnet," had left it to drown in a garden pool.

LOST—A HAT

Our new and delightful frieze gave us a most graphic and breezy account of an experience of recent date that will ever remain a most delicious memory.

We always understood that the fair sex loved to go shopping on fine days. In fact, we have seen thousands of them parading on sunny mornings and afternoons up and down our city pavements and gazing into attractive shop windows, darting in here and there to secure bargains and seizing golden opportunities of exchanging good greenbacks for desirable and coveted "things to wear." We won't go into particulars.

One lady hastened into a well-known milliner's recently, and bought a hat that was a "perfect dream" and hurried home with her prize, ready to make the whole neighborhood envious in a day or so.

Condition of Women In Russia Is Defined By a Recent Visitor

Miss M. Osterhout, of Vancouver, Recently Returned From Europe, Gives Able Address on Industrialized Classes Under Soviet Rule

A COMPARATIVELY cheering picture of the industrialized section of Russia's womanhood, represented as enjoying greatly improved social and economic conditions which place them on an equality with the industrialized manhood of the country, was given by Miss Margaret Osterhout, of Vancouver, recently returned from an extended visit to Europe, in the course of her interesting address to the Women's Canadian Club yesterday afternoon at the Empress Hotel.

Although her subject was "Woman's Place in Russia," she confined her observations chiefly to conditions among the industrial classes, and some general observations about marriage, the home and divorce, educational facilities, and an outline of the methods employed by the Soviet Government to instill in the youth of the country the principles of Communism.

"One is interested," she noted, "to find that an attempt is being made in Russia to build conditions where there will be no distinction between men and women. Official positions are just as open to women as to men, and it is creditable to the women of that country that they have responded to the opportunity and occupy just as many positions of leadership as men. One feels that the new woman in Russia is emerging triumphant, with her new-found freedom realizing a source of her responsibility in building up a new country."

EDUCATION EQUAL

Educational facilities were open alike to boys and girls, men and women, and by means of the night and day classes, anyone who wished was enabled, even after entering industry or business, to continue education indefinitely with resultant benefits in promotion to higher positions. Illiteracy had been reduced from 90 to 35 per cent as the result of this.

In a student's hostel which she had visited, Miss Osterhout had found the resident members, made up of married students and their families, who had received scholarships through night schools. Thirty-five per cent of the women also were students, 35 per cent worked in factories, 20 per cent kept house, and 10 per cent were engaged in other occupations.

NURSES AS DOCTORS

Nurses in Russia did not consider their training over when they graduated, but continued their studies in the hope of becoming doctors. Similarly in many other professions and occupations, people were encouraged to go on improving themselves as much as possible.

"The fact that men and women are sharing in every type of work means that the sexes understand each other better. Men may not be so chivalrous as in some other countries, but on the other hand there has grown up between men and women a friendly comradeship which compares well with this country, where women, although they have gained a certain amount of freedom, have not been accepted as comrades and equals of men, and have to fight for their position. In Russia woman has been accepted as the equal of man, and will very probably never again accept a subservient position."

MARRIAGE CUSTOMS

Miss Osterhout described the simplicity of the Russian marriage service today, the rite consisting of the filling out of a form, the principle condition in which was that each applicant must be free of venereal disease, considered in Russia a great crime. The fee being paid (about $2 in our money), the registrar (a woman in the case witnessed by the speaker), simply wrote in the passport that the couple were married, and they departed. Divorce was almost as simple, being granted on the application of one or other of the partners, and often for very trifling reasons in the case of educated and responsible persons.

"With marriage and divorce made so easy, legal requirements will not hinder people either from getting married or divorced," commented the speaker, who added the penetrating afterthought that it was rather a significant insight into the subconscious wishes of the people of this country that so many said, on hearing of the ease of divorce in Russia, that "there must be a lot of divorce in Russia." In America it cost something to get a divorce, so social stigma was usually attached, and consequently many married couples lived apart without being divorced. Not so in Russia. With legal restrictions removed, family ties persisted from the fact that couples were bound together by much stronger ties than those of legal sanction. An Americanologist, Dr. Hart, had concluded from this that men and women were mostly monogamous by nature.

BIRTH CONTROL

The widespread knowledge of birth control had resulted in regulation of the families, and when children came, they were usually wanted and had a much better chance than children coming under other conditions. Abortion clinics were carried on by the Government and there was no stigma attached to their use. "Parents do not look on their children as merely projections of themselves, hoping that little children will grow up like his father. They are regarded more objectively, and the parent helps the child to become a helpful citizen of new Russia," said Miss Osterhout. One felt that this attitude had been largely brought about from the fact of so many women working. In the average home the family breakfasted together, the parents then went to the factory, the children to school, and after the day apart, they all returned to share the evening meal, each bringing a fresh point of view, "very unlike conditions in the family group in this country, where the mother has been too busy darning socks and making bread to be able to contribute anything to the group interest."

CARE FOR MOTHER

The state cares for the industrialized mother both before and after the birth of a child, allowing the mother four months' absence on full pay. After the child is two months old the mother returns to the factory, taking the baby with her, and leaving it in the factory creche. Miss Osterhout described one such creche that she had visited, "not very well equipped, but the mother and the children receive good care." A more modern creche, with practically ideal conditions, was also described. From the creche the children go to the nursery school, thence to the kindergarten and then to the public school. One did not feel that children, under this system, were being kept from their parents, for they did reassemble in the home at certain hours. The factory hours were not seven hours daily, and each sixth day, being a holiday, or other of the parents could spend it with their children.

Owing to the lack of adequate housing in Russia today, there is considerable overcrowding, and the industrial population was crowded into one or two-room homes.

Mrs. W. G. Wilson presided, and presented the speaker with a sheaf of chrysanthemums.

FUR COATS ARE SHORT
Winds will have to blow very cold this winter to unsettle the debilitated contingent here for the preference for the short, quite short, fur jacket.

For evening it a white "bunny" coat wrapped coquettishly light about the figure, reaching just to the wide waistline of the modern dress.

For daytime it is a grey or brown fur coat made short enough to display the interesting detail of trimming on the dress.

Dress of Past Century Indicative of Times
Hundred Dresses Shown at Hampstead Display Arranged by Dr. C. Willett Cunningham—Traces Development of Fashions, 1800 to 1900

In view of the forthcoming pageant of dress to be given in aid of the Women's Workroom, the following article from The Times (London) will be of special interest: "A display of English women's fashions of the nineteenth century, illustrated by a parade of 100 dresses from the collection of Dr. C. Willett Cunningham, who described their history, was given at Hampstead Town Hall recently in aid of Hampstead General Hospital. The dresses were worn by ladies of the district who acted as mannequins."

"Dr. Willett Cunningham described his gowns as having been worn by women in comfortable circumstances between 1800 and 1900. He explained the influences that were at work at each period of the century, which produced an emphasis on lines, angles or curves. Since the Great War there had been the same emphasis on vertical lines, as in the period beginning 1790. Wherever the vertical influence was seen in dress one found it also influencing decoration and furniture. From 1825-1865 there was an emphasis on angles, and from 1865-1910 an epoch of curves."

BUSTLE AND CRINOLINE

"The bustle appeared in 1828, and a beautiful morning dress of white muslin printed with green foliage and made with a pointed bodice—similar to that worn by Fanny Kemble in a picture dated 1828—represented the domestic period in the days when velvet trimmings and the first small bonnets came into fashion."

"Throughout the series of groups Dr. Willett Cunningham commented on the phases of dress. In the seventies women 'mourned with gusto,' as seen in the gown of mitigated grief for half mourning in white carnation edged with black and in the widow's dress in heavy black, grain-silk with white cap, cuffs and collar. He called attention to the Stuart neckline popular in the Rococo period of 1875-1877 as being one of the most becoming in any age."

CHAPTER XVIII

"I want to know about that audition," Judy said to Elton Day. "All auditions are wrong," Day said, lighting a cigarette, humming under his breath. "You know what I mean?" Judy's eyes blazed. "Perhaps I do. But then?" "What did you do?" "Nothing. But of course—let me tell you a story, Judy. Once there were three orchestras, and they all wanted the same job. And of course three orchestras can't have one job. You see, it's impossible. So two of them had to be left out in the cold. And there were two very good orchestras, and one not quite so good. But when they were heard in a client's room, I've heard that the very good orchestras sounded very bad, and the not so good orchestra sounded very good indeed."

He began to laugh, moving back and forth of his desk, tapping the hand leader said, and returned to the stand. Suddenly Judy knew this was her music. The others dancing didn't matter; this was being done especially for her, because of Dick, because of the man who held her so lightly and that can be very touching to a girl who dances very well. It shouldn't end, Judy thought, because where there is music you can close your eyes, just dance, not thinking, but when the music ends you are dropped suddenly, cruelly, back into reality; you must think more than ever, you must face the truth that she knew and Dick didn't know at all. He smiled. "You're not eating," he said, trying to be stern. "Of course I am. It's very good. I've always wondered what it meant when I read in a book about his long fingers on the blotter. He picked up a fountain pen and wrote for a moment.

"They Sat Quietly, Very Still, Looking at Each Other."

"Here," he said, handing what he had written to Judy. "Here is the problem. You see—X plus Y equals Z. And what can happen to hands can happen to voices, too. Judy. And it's all for the best. You've got the job. And now—Oh! It's almost twelve. Let's go down to the La Salle and have lunch. They have Welsh rabbit that breaks my heart. Judy! Quick! Reread that for me."

She drew away from him. Her hands were trembling, her throat was dry and hot. Mr. Day, you mean somebody did something to my wires so my voice sounded all right and the other didn't?"

"Perhaps. But I wouldn't worry about it."

"Of course not."

"You made me a cheat, too! You made me do something I'd never do in the world! You—"

His thin lips tightened. All at once the smile was gone out of his eyes. He leaned forward over Judy.

"Be still," he said. "Be still, Judy. Listen, and listen a moment. You wanted that job, didn't you?"

"But I had nothing to do with it. The man who was in the control room before the audition wasn't I, but Dick Mason. And he didn't forget it. And if there's any talk about a crooked audition it's Dick Mason they'll want to know about. Nobody else."

She gasped. Things like this couldn't happen. Making somebody else responsible for what you did and admitted you had done. Making somebody take advantage of something he didn't know was being done.

Day was smiling again.

"You see, Judy, it's what I told you before. Radio is a very strange business, and you hear many odd things, but there's one rule to remember, Judy, and that is: Don't talk about what you hear or see, because if you do, people get hurt."

Judy ran from the office, down the hall to the stairway, up the stairs, through a door. This was the studio floor, and there were people everywhere. She caught her breath, tried to walk slowly, tried not to show what she was thinking, because, through the crowd, she saw Dick looking for someone, looking for her.

She sat down on the bench she had left only a few moments before. There, in a moment, Dick found her.

"I thought I'd lost you, Judy."

"Of course not. Oh, of course not. Dick."

"Then—let's go, shall we, because we've got things to celebrate. Think of it, Judy! You're on the air at last! And you did it all by yourself, with nobody helping you. And aren't you proud of yourself, Judy Allison, aren't you?"

Somehow Judy managed to say, "Yes, Dick, yes."

Somehow she managed to say, "Yes, Dick, yes."

She managed to say, "Yes, Dick, yes."

She managed to say, "Yes, Dick, yes."

NEW CHURCHMEN'S CLUB ORGANIZED

On Monday evening, at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, the men held their second meeting for the purpose of organizing a men's club. The banquet was provided by the Women's Guild. Following the banquet, George Guy, accompanied by Jesse Longfield, favored the company with two delightful vocal solos, the last being "Love's Old Sweet Song," the men joining in the chorus.

Arnold W. Trevitt occupied the chair for the evening, and the election of officers was proceeded with, resulting as follows: Honorary president, Rev. H. P. S. Laitrell, B.A.; president, Leonard Hall, B.A.; vice-president, Robert Terries; secretary, Fred W. Harris; treasurer, L. W. Johnson. Other business included plans to organize an intensive membership campaign, to hold the banquet and meeting on the second Monday of each month and to call the organization "The Men's Fellowship Club of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church."

The club was then entertained by Major Crockett in an intensely interesting and educational talk on "The West Indies," illustrated with a splendid collection of lantern slides.

CHISELING SON

Father—"From this day on, you get not another cent. You are dead to me."

"Then you might give me $500 for a decent burial."

He turned away from her. Not looking, he said flatly, "It won't be around any more, either, Judy."

"Why?"

"I took it back today. No use trying to pay my bills, so I'll have to wait a while."

"But—"

He swung around suddenly. His face was drawn, his jaw was set hard. "Judy, you might as well know about it now as any time. I'm head over heels in love with you. You're the most beautiful person I've ever seen. I'd give my soul for the right to love you. But—"

Time stopped. The music was a faint murmur, a long way off. There were no other people in this big room now. Only Judy Allison and Dick Mason. Only two people brought together by a weird chance that had no right to happen. Only two people who should never have known what they both knew now. And no words to be said, nothing to be done.

They sat quietly, very still, looking at each other. If Judy's heart raced, if her hands longed to touch Dick Mason's strong hands there on the table, if she knew the answer to all the questions she had ever asked herself, still there was nothing to be done.

"But I can't tell you ever again. I can't ask you to—"

To marry you? she breathed. She hadn't meant to say it. The words had spoken themselves. She flushed crimson, tried to turn away, knew she couldn't. And said again, "To marry you, Dick?"

"Because I haven't. Because—"

She could see the shadow spreading over his face. She could see his lips tighten, his throat jerk as though he struggled to say what must be said. Then, "I can't ask you to marry me, Judy, and I can't even say I love you. Not ever after this. Because," he laughed bitterly, "Because I'm not free."

"You're not free? Dick!"

He laughed again, sharply, like a man who wants to cry and will not. "Oh, I don't mean I'm married. I'm not. It's worse, I guess."

Winnipeg Relief Loan Scheme Is Supported Here

The City Council, at its meeting Monday night, endorsed a motion passed by the Winnipeg council, memorializing the Dominion Government to loan banks money with a view to the city borrowing money from the banks at a 4 per cent interest for the purpose of carrying on unemployment relief work.

The memorial is being circulated in all large cities throughout Canada, so that municipalities may secure financing at a low rate of interest for their various unemployment relief programmes.

VALUABLE WORK IS COMMENDED

Provincial Archivist Praises Interest of Native Sons in History

The valuable work being done by Native Daughters and Native Sons of British Columbia in connection with Craigflower School, and the gathering of old-time photographs, has been warmly praised by John Hosie, Provincial archivist.

In collecting pictures of former scholars and teachers of Craigflower, the committee in charge has encountered many fine records of pioneer days. These, when not related to Craigflower activities, have been made available to the Provincial archives.

In acknowledging receipt of a donation of thirty-six pictures taken by Albert Maynard, pioneer photographer, and of thirty-five other pictures, Mr. Hosie said:

"This is a most important donation, and I desire to convey to you and your committee the department's most sincere and grateful thanks. As Provincial archivist, I should like to congratulate your committee on the truly marvelous work it is doing. In no other part of the province, except possibly Metcalchin, has anyone attempted so thorough a piece of work in tribute to a neighborhood's pioneers."

It is in recognition of this work that the Native Daughters and Native Sons of British Columbia have arranged a dance, to be held in the Campbell Building, next Friday evening.

How IT STARTED

"FACE IS LATIN FOR A CANDLE"

While not among the very commonly used in everyday speech, this is a saying that has caused a good deal of interest as to its origin among the curious minded. Its use is synonymous with "Mum's the word" or, in other words, "Don't talk."

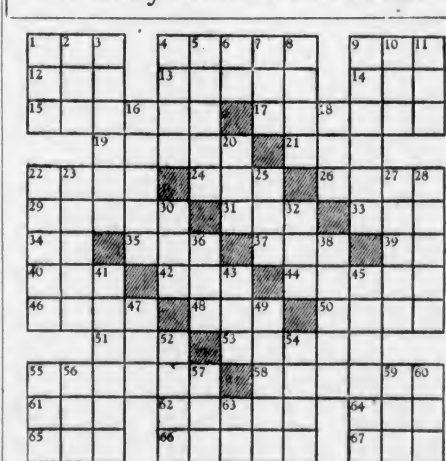

"Face" is of course not the Latin for candle, for which we have "candle" or "lucerna" or "cerea" (wax candle). The word "face" means "be silent," and the expression "Face is Latin for a candle" is among the subtlest and most elaborate of all known ways of asking someone to keep quiet!

It has been suggested that the fact that silence is associated with the introduction of the candle into the house. Or the phrase may have been coined outright for its original (and modern) use of warning someone of the approach of one who should not hear what he is saying, as someone entering a room where private conversation is going on, with the cryptical remark, "Face is Latin for a candle!"

Husband: "Hang it all, my cigar's gone out. It spoils a cigar, you know, no matter how good it may be, if you let it go out."

Wife (sweetly): "A cigar is, in that matter, not unlike a man."

EIGHT RUGBY FIXTURES CARDED FOR SATURDAY

England and Wales Will Battle Today In Football Match

Old Country Eleven's Ready for International Clash at Cardiff—Formidable Aggregations Announced for Fixture

CARDIFF, Wales, Nov. 15 (CP).—When England meets Wales here tomorrow in an international soccer game, it is anticipated that one of the best games of the early season will result. Both England and Wales have won their international games played to date and the event will be keenly contested.

England has twice defeated Ireland, once at Belfast, 5-2, and once at Blackpool, 1-0. Wales has only played once, having beaten Scotland, 5-2, at Edinburgh. Observers feel, however, that since Scotland blanked Ireland, 4-0, at Belfast, the Welshmen must have a fine team to have won over the Scottish.

The players in tomorrow's game are: England—Goal, Hibbs (Birmingham); backs, Goodall (Huddersfield)

Town) and Blenkinsopp (Sheffield Wednesday); halves, Stoke (Birmingham), Young (Huddersfield Town) and Tate (Aston Villa); forwards, Crooks (Derby County), Jack (Aston Villa), Brown (captain, Aston Villa), Sanford (West Bromwich Albion) and Cunliffe (Blackburn Rovers).

Wales—Goal, John (Stoke); backs, Williams (Everton) and Ellis (Motherwell); halves, Murphy (West Bromwich Albion), Griffith (Bolton Wanderers) and Richards (Wolverhampton Wanderers); forwards, Warren (Middlesbrough), O'Callaghan (Tottenham Hotspur), Astley (Aston Villa), Robbins (West Bromwich Albion) and Lewis (Swansea).

Murphy is the only new cap on the Welsh team, having secured his place by his excellent game against Aston Villa.

TWO LEADERS CLASH TODAY

Saanich Meet Navy at Heywood Avenue—Hearts and Bays at Beacon Hill

In what should prove one of the most exciting battles of the mid-week league, Saanich United and the Navy will strive for the leadership today at the Heywood Avenue ground. Both teams will be at full strength for the fixture and history in good soccer should result. In the other match, Hudson's Bay and Hearts will battle at Lower Beacon Hill. The stormers are in the place in the league and will be out to improve their position. The youthful Hearts have been improving from week to week and hope to register their first win. E. Alcock will handle the whistle at Heywood Avenue and Johnson will be in charge at Lower Beacon Hill. Both games start at 3:45 o'clock.

DEFENCE GAME IS CRITICIZED

Tactics of Boston Bruins Against Canadiens Labeled to Complain

MONTREAL, Nov. 15 (CP).—The defensive style of play adopted by Boston Bruins, in their game against Canadiens here, last Saturday night, has elicited a complaint from Leo Dandurand, manager of the Flying Frenchmen, who were beaten, 4-0.

Dandurand has written letters to Charles F. Adams, president of the club, and to Art Ross, Bruins' manager. He complains that Bruins fell back on the defensive after scoring one goal. They shot the puck down the ice and played a strictly defensive game.

Par Competition To Be Staged at Uplands Course

Eight members of the Uplands Golf Club will face the starter in the par competition tomorrow afternoon, according to the race released yesterday. Post entries will be received and a larger field is predicted to seek the honors. Pairings follow: Mrs. E. L. Pocock and Miss E. Grant.

5TH REGIMENT HOOPSTERS TO FACE BEAVERS

Senior Quintettes to Hold Spotlight at High Gym This Evening

Coach Alan Le Marquand's blue-sweatered basketball quintette bearing the colors of the Fifth Regiment will go gunning for their first victory in their last four starts tonight at the Victoria High School gymnasium, when they step on the maple court against Les Gordon's youthful Beavers aggregation in the feature tussle on the Victoria and District League programme in the men's senior "A" division. J.B.A.A. leaves the first of the season in the men's senior "A" section at 7:30 o'clock, while Harmony will clash with Standard Steam Laundry in the second fixture in the women's senior "B" league. Tommy Macdonald will look after the game.

So close and thrilling the senior "A" games have been this season that a large turnout of fans is expected to foot it towards the High gymnasium. Last week's tussle between the same two senior squads was one of the best exhibitions of the season, with the Beavers coming through with two baskets in the dying seconds to win from the gunners, 26-25. George Robertson was the lad that crowned himself with glory with his two field goals, as the timekeeper's watch ticked off the last minute of the game.

GUNNERS STRONG The Fifth are confident of putting a stop to their losing streak at the Victoria High School gymnasium. The team has put its underdog through stiff workouts and reports that the team will take the floor with victory in its third game. The team's lineup is: Lynn Patrick, "Buz" Brown, Lloyd Jones, Harold Shepherd, "Red" Martin, Doug Peden, Ray Simpson and Alex Cudlip will wear the Fifth's uniform.

However, Coach Gordon thinks just the opposite to Le Marquand and says his lads are going to show the fans that last week's victory was no fluke. He will march out the same line-up, which includes Skipper "Tubby" Tubman, "Chuck" Preston, George Robertson, Gordie Moore, Ollie Goldsmith, Bill Levy, Fred McDonald, Ian McDonald and Fraser.

Milne, Peter Taylor, Edna Matthews and Frank Elliott and Bill Clarke.

SNELL KAYOES FRANK HOLLAND

Veteran Tacoma Fighter Scores Knockout Victory Over Spokane Boxer in Fourth

VANCOUVER, Nov. 15 (CP).—A dynamite-laden left hand that dropped his opponent for a five-count in the third round gave Doc Snell, Tacoma, light heavyweight, a four-round knockout victory over Frankie Holland, Spokane, in the main event on the boxing card here tonight. It was Snell's third win in four fights and he landed a sharp left in the first and landed a sharp left in the second. For the remainder of the round and the second, the Spokane boxer managed to keep away from the hard-hitting Tacoma man, pecking away with light lefts and an occasional right to Snell's face.

In the third, Snell connected with two solid lefts to the jaw that dropped Holland to the canvas for a five-count, the bell saving the Spokane lad from a knockout. Leaping from his corner in the fourth, Snell finished the fight in short order. A sizzling left to the solar plexus put Holland down for the count and gave Snell the victory.

Snell weighed 137; Holland, 137. In a preliminary bout, Dick Gordon, Bellingham, 149, proved too crafty for Billy Shaw, Vancouver, 150, and easily took the decision. Gordon outboxed Shaw all the way through and won all of the four rounds by a wide margin. Other results: Harry Marshall, Vancouver, 132, decisionally Billy Pettie, Vancouver, 133½, in six rounds.

Callaghan Suspended

BOSTON, Nov. 15 (AP).—Barney Callaghan, New England welterweight and middleweight champion, was suspended today by the State Boxing Commission for two months, because he has declined to meet King Tut, Minneapolis featherweight, in a bout scheduled for November 18 at the Boston Garden.

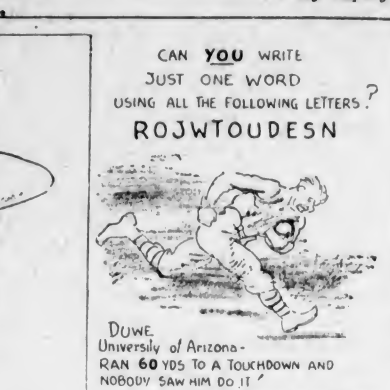

Callaghan reported an injury would prevent his appearance.

MACCABEES WILL TRAVEL ON SUNDAY

Jokers, second place eleven, will be out after another victory in the first division of the Victoria and District Football League Saturday afternoon when they clash with North Ward, cellar occupants, in the only scheduled fixture on the lower Beacon Hill Park pitch at 2:45 o'clock. "Scotty" McKay will be in charge. Sunday morning the MacCabees will head for Duncan where they will battle the Up-Islanders in another league match at 2 o'clock. McKellan will handle the whistle.

North Ward will be out with a strong team with hopes of breaking the "jinx" which has followed the club since the lid was pried off the schedule.

MacCabees are heading for Duncan with a formidable aggregation, and have hopes of performing a feat that none of the eleven have been able to do this season, that of handing the Sons their first setback. The following players of the MacCabees are asked to meet at their hall at 11:30 o'clock Sunday morning for the trip: Cook, Gibson, Burgess, Eastick, W. Graves, T. Graves, Noble, J. Edwards, Ralph, Emery, Robson, Woolcock, Purdy, Farquhar, Sweetman and Doherty.

Deductive poetry is that kind of poetry which aims, or seems to aim, at instruction as its object, making pleasure entirely subservient to it.

J.B.A.A. XV Will Tackle Scottish In Main Fixture

Oarsmen and Last Year's Champions Booked to Battle in Feature Match in Senior Division—Nanaimo to Play in Preliminary Against College at Willows—Navy Face Gunners

Grounds and referees for eight games on Saturday were announced last evening, following a meeting of the Victoria Rugby Union, and followers have an excellent programme to choose from. In what promises to be the feature, the J.B.A.A. and Scottish meet at the Willows Park in a senior "A" fixture, with G. C. Grant in charge of the whistle. Prior to this game the Nanaimo Mosquitoes will journey from Upland to tackle the Victoria College Intermediates. The coaly city has just revived Rugby this season, after a long lapse, and want to try out their paces against not too strong a team. In the other "A" match, the Navy will meet the Fifth Brigade at the Navy ground, with J. B. Aeland in charge.

In the senior "B" section, Victoria College and the Navy play at the High School grounds, with W. Gray in charge; the Fifth tackle the Garrison at Work Point, refereed by F. B. Derbyshire, and the Scottish stack up against the J.B.A.A. on the first Oak Bay Park ground, with H. S. Hurn handling the whistle.

In the intermediate section, the Wanderers play the University School at Mount Tolmie and the Scottish and Fifth clash at the second ground at Oak Bay Park. All games will start at 3 o'clock, except the Victoria College-Nanaimo, which will commence at 1:45 o'clock.

The union decided to allow all players into games free, that is, excluding McKee's Cup matches. Passes will be issued to the managers of teams having a bye, to be issued to players desiring to go to games. These passes must be handed in at the gate. Forty-five passes in all will be issued, fifteen to each team.

GAMES CONCEDED At the request of two clubs, Victoria College and Garrison, who were conceded games last week in the senior "B" section, owing to field teams through illness, it was decided to try to arrange to play these matches during the week. Negotiations having fallen through with the Jubilee Hospital regarding care of injured players, it has been arranged with St. Joseph's Hospital to undertake this task in return for a "gate" to be given during the season. A letter was written to the hospital setting out the form of agreement which had been verbally agreed to and requesting written confirmation.

The by-laws of the union were amended to permit reduction of the fees from each club. It was pointed out that a club with only one senior team entered, paid as much as a club with two senior teams. The new scale of fees was unanimously approved and is as follows: Senior "A": $10 per annum; senior "B": $5 per annum; intermediate, $5 per annum; schools, $1 per annum. Russell Ker, president, presided at the meeting.

Six-Day Events For Dog Races To Be Planned

THE PAS, Man., Nov. 15 (CP).—Six-day bicycle races of the East may find a counterpart in a six-day race of the North Country. Emil St. Godard, five times winner of this frontier town's annual 200-mile dog Derby, is considering an offer to enter a six-day dog Derby to be staged at St. Paul, Minn. The Derby is to be staged indoors on a half-mile covered track. Race lovers will be given an opportunity to see world-famous mushers display their strategy at close range. Emil has three teams of twenty-one dogs in flashing trim, all set for the gun. Among others ready for inter-Derbies are Earl Brydges, last year's winner; "Shorty" Ramsdell, and Sam Pronto, famed Indian musher.

YELLOWS WIN HOOP FIXTURE

Score 26-20 Victory Over Cardinals Cagers Team in Interhigh Tussle

In a game that featured more thrills than many a senior encounter, the Victoria High School Yellows sent the Cardinals from the same institution down to a 26-20 defeat yesterday afternoon in a Lower Island Interhigh School Basketball League played on the Victoria High court. By virtue of this win the Yellows move into the second position along with the Cardinals. The Blacks held down the initial berth.

The game was scoreless for the first five minutes, with both squads playing heady ball. Coming in to receive a pass under the net from Macmurchie, Bill Wallis, flashy forward of the Cards, clipped the basket with a brilliant shot. A play later Kirkbride squared up the score with one from the foul line. Wallis scored again for the Cards with a tally from centre. Andrews furthered the Card lead on a free technical throw. Stark, lanky centre for the feathered crew, scored again to give his squad a substantial lead. Price, Gaunt and Noakes, for the Yellows, teamed for three nice baskets to even the score again. With thirty seconds to play in the first stanza Stark and Andrews came through with two scores to bring the half time score: Yellows 9, Cardinals 13.

INCREASE LEAD

After the interval the Yellows let fly with all their bag of tricks. Play after play dazzled the Cards, and after ten minutes of the half the Yellows were in the lead end of a 20 to 13 count. The Cards called time out and went into a conference. The feathered men played more stoutly for the remainder of the game, using all the breaks that came their way to advantage. Noakes and Kirkbride teamed several times to further the Yellows' lead. Stark and Macmurchie did some stalwart playing to score several points for the Cards. With two minutes left in the first round of their ten-round game, the Yellows were leading 26 to 20. Les Hardie officiated. Teams and individual scores follow:
Yellows—Noakes (4), Price (2), Kirkbride (8), Roach, Hodgson, Gaunt (6), Ritchie (2) and Cliff. Cardinals—Andrews (4), Shepherd (4), Macmurchie (1), Wallis (4), Taylor, Stark (7), Cox and Haddon.

BRENTENA IS MATCHED WITH JOE GARDINER

Middleweights to Appear in Main Event on Wrestling Card at Stadium

Answering the popular demand for fast action, the Pacific Stadium is featuring "Bull" Brentena, Chicago middleweight, and Joe Gardiner, San Francisco, in the feature wrestling bout on its Friday night card. The two men met last week at Gardiner was not satisfied with the decision. He says he can take the "Bull" any time with an even break, so Promoter "Winthrop" Chilton has given him the chance this week. The bout will be over the eight ten-minute round rule. All bouts this week at the Stadium will be light or middleweight, and some fast topnotchers are being lined up for the semi and preliminary matches. Ladies with escorts will be admitted free.

BOXING CLUB OPENS SEASON

V.I.A.A. Attracts Large Group of Youngsters for Ring Instruction

The V.I.A.A. Amateur Boxing Club got away to a flying start last evening at its new club quarters at the Old Foresters' Hall, Broad Street, when no less than fifty athletes of all weights ranging from 114 pounds to 195 pounds presented themselves for instruction in the many art of self defence.

Due to being laid low with the flu, Abbie Davies was unable to be present and as a consequence his brother, Jumbo, had a very busy evening boxing and instructing the gloves for nearly two hours. Some of the pupils showed great promise and it looks as if Victoria will have a first-class amateur boxing team in the near future.

The gymnasium was well equipped with training paraphernalia necessary for the development of boxers. Due to the fine turnout it has been decided by the club executive to hold another free boxing class tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock, when instructors will be on hand. The only stipulation required by the club is that intending pupils come equipped with running shoes and shorts.

MANLEY SCORES K.O.

BALT LAKE CITY, Utah, Nov. 13 (AP).—George Manley, veteran Denver light-heavyweight, knocked out Jimmy Hanna, Pocatello, Idaho, in the first round of their ten-round main event here tonight. A straight right to the chin near the end of the round sent Hanna down for a count of six before he was saved by the bell. He was unable to return for the second round. Manley weighed 172, Hanna 168.

"Jimmy, Auntie will never kiss you with a dirty face!" "That's what I thought!"

Little Jones (to hobo)—You run a great risk, my man, soliciting alms. How do you know you are not addressing the chief constable of the city?

The dear old lady had reached her hundredth year in good health and strength, and the vicar was talking with her, in anticipation of finding material for a good sermon. "And now will you tell me," he said, "what has been the main source of your vitality, what has seemed to you to be the chief basis of the wonderful vigor of your mind and body, what has helped and supported you through all your days of trials and sorrows?"

The dear old lady thought hard for a moment, and a bright smile illuminated her face as she answered briefly:

"Victoria!"

Crossing Piccadilly Circus little Beryl stayed her footsteps to watch with deep interest a busy point of policemen. "Mummy, who do policemen belong to?" she demanded suddenly. "Oh, the people," was the somewhat uncertain reply. Beryl's eyes opened wide with surprise. After a thoughtful pause, she exclaimed, "I wonder if daddy could get me a nice fat one for my birthday? He could sleep in our spare room and salute me every time he saw me. Then he could come with us shopping and stop the traffic every time we wanted to cross the road. Wouldn't it be lovely?"

On the Stage
Royal—The Seattle Symphony Orchestra.

On the Screen
Capitol—Will Rogers in "Down to Earth."

Columbia—"Rebecca of Sunnysbrook Farm," starring Marion Nixon.

Dominion—Norma Shearer in "Smilin' Through."

Empire—"Down Our Street," starring Elizabeth Allan.

Playhouse—Warner Baxter in "Man About Town."

Crystal Garden—Swimming.

The main number to be played by the Seattle Symphony is the Dvorak
"From the New World" symphony, very often mistakenly called "New World." In this work the airs brought by the composer from his native land are intermingled with the negro and Indian songs in which Dvorak had become greatly interested.

Basel Cameron is reserved, resourceful, reliable, a musician, not an instrumentalist. He has selected the programmes to be played at the Royal this afternoon and evening with great care, and with the object of suiting every taste. The afternoon concert will begin at 3:30 o'clock and the evening one at 8:30 o'clock.

In order that the concert will not be marred by late arrivals, arrangements have been made with the management not to permit anyone taking their seats until the completion of the selection of movement being played. It is earnestly requested that patrons obtain their seats in good time.

DOMINION Leslie Howard became THEATRE a "man with three faces" for his role in "Smilin' Through," Norma Shearer's new starring film which is now at the Dominion Theatre. Howard's role takes him through the stages from youth, middle-age and old-age in this Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer drama of love struggling against fate. Norma Shearer and Fredric March also play dual roles in "Smilin' Through," making this one of the most unusual pictures ever screened.

CAPITOL Will Rogers creates
THEATRE something of a screen innovation in "Down to Earth," by combining for the first time his humorous but significant views on the economic situation with a comedy story. As a result the picture showing for the last times today at the Capitol Theatre, is said to be the most entertaining one in noted humorist has yet made. Irene
Rich, Dorothy Jordan and Matty
Kemp head the supporting cast.
Also on the same bill is "The Painted Woman."

PLAYHOUSE "Man About Town," the Fox production which is currently a success at the Playhouse Theatre, tells the story of a woman who decided to betray her country rather than face a domestic scandal. She is prevented from carrying out her design by her sister, who involves both of them in a murder. Warner Baxter is seen in the leading role and Karen Morley portrays the principal feminine character.

COLUMBIA Marian Nixon, whose THEATRE screen work of the past year includes important successes in "After Tomorrow" and "Amateur Daddy," makes what is heralded as her greatest single step towards stardom in her latest Fox role, that of David Pyning, opposite Ralph Bellamy in "Rebecca of Sunnysbrook Farm," now being shown at the Columbia Theatre.
